

Privacy Notice for Provision Center for Biomedical Research

Introduction:

At the Provision Center for Biomedical Research, we are committed to maintaining the trust and confidence of our research participants, partners, and visitors to our website. In this Privacy Notice, we detail why we collect personal information, how we use it, the conditions under which we may disclose it to others, and how we keep it secure.

Types of Data We Collect:

- Personal Identification Information: Such as name, age, gender, address, and contact details.
- Health Information: Medical history, genetic data, biometric data, and other health-related information necessary for the clinical trial.
- Technical Information: IP address, login data, and browser information when visiting our website.

How We Use Your Data:

- Research Purposes: For conducting and managing clinical trials.
- Communication: To inform you about the research and any other relevant updates.
- Compliance: To adhere to legal, regulatory, and ethical guidelines.

Data Storage and Security:

- Your data is stored on secure servers, and we use a range of measures to ensure your personal data is not lost, used, or accessed in an unauthorized manner.
- Your data may be stored in paper form onsite for duration of the trial. We maintain the storage of this information in a locked office.

Sharing Your Data:

We will not share your personal data with third parties without your consent, except in cases where:

- It is for the purposes of the research.
- We are legally obligated.

Your Rights:

- Right to Access: You have the right to request a copy of the information we hold about you or access it via your physician's electronic medical record. However, if you are participating in a blind study, you would not have access to any information that may reveal whether you are on medication or a placebo.
- Right to Rectify: You can ask us to rectify any information you believe is inaccurate.

- Right to Erase: You can ask us to delete your personal data, though this may not be feasible if the research is ongoing or if there are legal, ethical, or regulatory reasons to retain the information.
- Right to Restrict Processing: You can ask us to temporarily halt the processing of your personal data.
- Right to Object: You can object to the processing of your personal data in certain circumstances.

Retention of Data:

Your data will be retained only for as long as necessary for the research purposes or as mandated by legal, ethical, or regulatory guidelines. Per FDA, ICH, and GCP regulations, one year after the end of the clinical trial period, the paper data will be relocated to an offsite storage facility. After the mandated storage period, any personal identifiers will be removed or the data will be destroyed.

Third-Party Links:

Our website may include links to third-party websites. Clicking on those links may allow third parties to collect or share data about you. We do not control these third-party websites and are not responsible for their privacy policies.

Cookies:

We use cookies on our website for analytics and user experience enhancement. You can opt out or manage these cookies through your browser settings.

Changes to this Privacy Notice:

Any changes we make to our privacy notice in the future will be posted on this page and, where appropriate, notice provided to you by e-mail.

Contacting Us:

If you have any questions about this privacy notice or our data handling practices, please contact:

Name: Amanda Blackwood
Phone: 865.934.2673
Email: Amanda.blackwood@biomed-research.com

Conclusion:

Protecting your privacy is of utmost importance to us. By participating in our clinical trials or engaging with our website, you trust us with your personal information, and we aim to uphold that trust with transparency and respect. If ever you have concerns or questions, please do not hesitate to reach out.